The collection's title, Cry Baby Mystic, speaks to the dual nature of its contents. On the one hand, it embraces the vulnerability and rawness of human experience, allowing readers to shed tears of sorrow, regret, and pain. On the other hand, it hints at something more ethereal, a mystical connection to the world around us that transcends the mundane.

Cry Baby Mystic is a feast for the senses, a literary tapestry woven with imagery and metaphor that will captivate the reader's mind and heart. The poets featured in the collection are masters of their craft, using language as a tool to unveil the beauty and fragility of existence.

One of the standout poems in the collection is "Ode to a Broken Heart" by A.N. Knight. This poignant piece explores the aftermath of a shattered relationship, capturing the raw pain and longing that comes from unrequited love.

Ode to a Broken Heart

My heart, a shattered prism, Reflects the shards of a broken dream. Each jagged piece a piercing reminder, Of the love we once deemed supreme.

The pain, an unrelenting ache, Throbs within my weary soul. Tears flow like rivers down my face, As I struggle to make myself whole.

Memories, like ghosts, torment my mind, Whispering of a love that's now gone. I search for something, anything, to find, A way to heal this gaping wound I've been drawn.

But time moves on, as it always does, And slowly, piece by piece, I'll mend. Though scars may remain, they'll fade with time, And a new love, one day, I'll spend.

In contrast to the emotional intensity of "Ode to a Broken Heart," the poem "The Daydreamer" by E.M. Gray offers a whimsical escape into the realm of the imagination.

The Daydreamer

Lost in a world of my own design, Where reality fades and dreams ignite.
My thoughts, like clouds, drift and twirl, In an endless dance of pure delight.

I soar through skies of azure hue, Where vibrant colors paint the air.
Butterflies with wings of every hue, Flutter around me, without a care.

Beneath my feet, a field of wildflowers, Sways gently in the summer breeze. The scent of poppies fills the air, As I wander through this blissful ease.

In this realm, time stands still, And worries fade away with grace. I am the master of my will, And everything is in its place.

But as the sun begins to set, My dream world slowly starts to fade. I return to reality with regret, But a smile remains, where tears once bade.

Cry Baby Mystic is a collection that will appeal to a wide range of readers, from those who seek solace in poetry to those who seek inspiration and a deeper understanding of the human experience. Its versatility lies in its ability to evoke a multitude of emotions, leaving readers both moved and empowered.

If you are seeking a literary experience that will challenge your perceptions, touch your heart, and spark your imagination, then Cry Baby Mystic is a collection that you cannot afford to miss. Immerse yourself in its pages and discover the transformative power of free verse poetry.
